INTRODUCTION TO SECOND EDITION— REVISED AND ENLARGED

In offering this revised and enlarged SECOND EDITION the author hopes that it may meet a continuance of the same favor with which its predecessor has been received.

This volume occupies a gap hitherto practically unfilled in commercial and higher stenography. It answers a felt human want as well as a commercial demand. After an exhaustive investigation the author finds that this is the first book of its character ever offered to shorthand students, teachers, business colleges, civil service schools, educational institutions, stenographers, and court reporters. This work is not constructed to cover cultural studies, but confines itself strictly to commercial and professional pursuits, and to City, County, State, and Federal stenographic examinations. The purpose of the compilation is to furnish workable and dependable vocabularies for the use of stenographers. The publication covers about 190 different types of business. The text contains approximately 90,000 words. From a large proportion of these, by the use of prefixes, suffixes, and other abbreviating devices of shorthand, many derivatives may be formed, thus increasing the vocabulary material here offered to at least 275,000 words.

The common or standard dictation books to be found in book stores and business colleges do not furnish the student or stenographer adequate technical vocabulary material in any single line of business. The limitations of such books are self-evident, and their nomenclatures are surprisingly meager. For instance, take one of the most popular dictation books on the market which is published in 15 different systems of shorthand. The manual in question attempts to cover 26 different types of business; but unavoidably these are covered in a very superficial way only, in so far as furnishing actual working knowledge of words to students and stenographers is concerned. Let us cite, for concrete example, two large and important types of business as outlined in it, the hardware and the railroad businesses. For vocabulary in the former the compilers have selected from the files of some hardware corporation 22 letters that purport to give this specific vocabulary to the stenographer. An actual count of the words applicable to the hardware business shows 142, whereas the present book provides 2,570 words. For railroad correspondence the dictation studies examined give 26 letters taken at random from the files of some railroad company's office. Its vocabulary is only 262 words, while the vocabulary here offered provides 5,400. This same criticism applies to all types of business that such dictation books have attempted to cover. The compilers must of necessity lose valuable space by the multitudinous repetition, in different letters, of small connectives, wordsigns, and shorthand outlines, with which the stenographer is already familiar. The foregoing criticism is true of all ordinary or standard dictation books to be found on the market. On the two subjects before mentioned, and for all other types of business, the present publication contains more word knowledge than can be found in the combined contents of all the different dictation books now in circulation.

There are numerous types of business covered in this volume that are not even touched upon in the standard dictation books to be found on the market. If a stenographer should be called upon to fill a position in civil, electrical, or mining engineering, or in an agricultural implement supply house, or should desire to take City, County, State or Federal stenographic examinations, the stenographic word lists contained herein would be of inestimable value.

In recent years commercial and industrial correspondence has expanded to enormous proportions. Each industry has a technical language of its own. Business and professional men recognize shorthand writers as belonging to certain classes or groups, such as dry goods, grocery, law, or railroad stenographers. Taking stenographers for practice has had its day. As a general rule, when a stenographer enters upon a new line of business he must acquire its vocabulary after long experience, diligent observation, and after many mistakes, and it is six months or more before even an alert person becomes acquainted with the terms of the new industry with which he is identified. Nearly all employers recognize the deficiencies in the working vocabularies of stenographers in this respect. The new employee who wishes to retain his position must familiarize himself with the terms and phrases used in the particular business with which he is identified. A shorthand writer who anticipates entering the business office of a hardware, insurance, lumber, or other firm, can by a careful study of the vocabulary concerned, become familiar with the technical words and idiomatic phrases of such business. As a consequence, he will be familiar with the character of the work demanded of him in his new position, and will have a decided advantage over the stenographer who enters upon a position without having first studied and practiced its vocabulary.

The dependable stenographer who desires to become proficient should write and re-write the shorthand outlines of any particular vocabulary in which he is interested until he can write the words with facility and certainty. It would be a good plan to have some one read these words to him, increasing the rapidity as he becomes familiar with the shorthand outlines. At any rate, he should look over the vocabulary concerned thoroughly, and imagine or practice writing the shorthand outlines for new and unfamiliar words.

The phonographic writer who is about to enter upon a position where he will be required to use the dictaphone can advantageously take the vocabulary applicable to such business, read it aloud, and note the spelling of the difficult and technical words; or, if he can obtain a dictaphone, he can put the vocabulary on the instrument and practice the typing of it as the words are repeated by the machine. If this is done the words will not seem strange to him when repeated in actual business letters which have been dictated to the dictaphone. The above suggestions are also applicable to the stenotype.

Speed in stenography is to a certain degree relative. A noted court and congressional reporter has said that on work he was entirely familiar with he could write from 225 to 250 words a minute, and read the dictation back accurately; but, if some one were to dictate to him unfamiliar matter, as, for instance, medical literature, he could probably not write more than 75 words a minute.

It is rapidly becoming the practice of business and professional men employing stenographers to give a test dictation. In engaging a shorthand writer preference is naturally given to the one familiar with the terms of the particular business. The teacher drilling students or stenographers for particular lines of employment, will, by the use of the comprehensive lists of words set forth in this work under various titles, be able to qualify such students or stenographers more rapidly and thoroughly than would be possible without their aid, and the efficiency of the stenographer will be thereby increased 75 percent.

A good many short, simple words will be found in the vocabularies. Stenographers frequently, when writing rapidly, make inaccurate and misleading notes on short but unfamiliar words. Hence, the writer feels justified in placing these in the vocabularies.

The stenographer, for whom this book is chiefly intended, does not as a rule upon entering a new business know the meaning and technical ramifications of all the words and phrases used in that particular business; nor is it absolutely essential to know their meaning at the beginning. He may look up in a dictionary the meaning of any word or phrase with which he is unfamiliar in any particular vocabulary, when he has time, before or after accepting a position. What the shorthand writer does want to know at the beginning is how to write the shorthand outlines for the particular vocabulary concerned, and how to spell the words correctly.

No shorthand outlines are given in this work for the words contained in the vocabularies. The omission is intentional. There are at least 125 different systems of shorthand in existence. The book does not conflict with any style of phonography. By the time a student graduates from any of the numerous systems of shorthand, he has mastered the rudimentary principles of the system he has chosen sufficiently to form his own shorthand outlines, especially so if he has had an opportunity, before entering any particular line of business, to study and practice the shorthand outlines of the vocabulary that embodies the words of the business with which he is concerned. In addition the shorthand dictionary for his particular system will as a rule give outlines for many of the words embodied in the vocabulary in which he is especially interested.

The sources of information mainly relied upon in compiling this work have been actual stenographic experience, observation of stenographers, trade journals, trade catalogs, special dictionaries, recognized authorities upon any given vocabulary, numerous dictation studies, and every-day business correspondence. From these various sources the writer has sought to gather in logical and convenient form, adequately indexed, vocabularies covering 190 different types of business. The work has occupied five years of arduous labor.

A steady demand for the first edition proves that this book is in general use. New and important vocabulary material has been incorporated into the present volume to the extent of about 25,000 words.

I desire again to express my thanks and appreciation for much kind assistance and advice from a few friends who have offered valuable suggestions and constructive criticisms in the course of the preparation and printing of this new edition.

I am deeply indebted to Professor Howard J. Hall of Stanford University; C. L. Bodenstein, Wilbur O. Hayes, R. B. Hollenbeck, Paul E. Meyer, and R. C. Young, Librarian Mills Building Law Library, San Francisco; also to my wife, and to Cordelia Beatrice Egan, Attorney at Law, Sioux City, Iowa.

Babbitting, bag fastener, baler, baling press, balk, band, barb-wire, baring tool, barley-chumper, barley-fork, beam, bean mill, bee fumigator, beehive, beehouse, beetle destroyer, beet-root seeder, billhook, binder, binding reaper, blade, black land plow, board fence, bog-cutting plow, bracket, brake, bramble scythe, breaker, broadcast seeder, brooder, broom-corn scraper, broom-corn sizer, broom sewing machine, broom trimmer, broom vise, broom winder, brush plow, brush puller, bundle carrier, burr, bush-hook, butter-box, butter-case, butter print, butter tub, butter worker, butter mould, butter tongs.

Cake breaker, cake grinder, calf pail, cane knife, cane scraper, carriage bolt, cart roller, casting, cattle-feeder, cattle-leader, cattle pump, cattle-stall, chaff cutter, chaff sifter, chain harrow, cheese cutter, cheese hook, cheese press, cheese shelf, cheese vat, check rod, check rower, chicken coop, chicken feeder, chopper, chopping mill, churn-dasher, churn power, cider mill, cider press, clamp, clevis, clipper, clod-clearer, clod-crusher, clover-huller, clover-seed gatherer, clover-thrasher, clutch, coal burning boiler, cockle separator, colter, combination plow, compound straw burner, concasseur, coop, corn cleaner, corn cracker, corn-stalk cutter, cotter, cotton chopper, cotton cylinder, cotton gin, cotton-picking machine, cotton seed huller, cotton sweep, cotton tie fastener, cotton truck, cotton worm destroyer, coulter plate, cradle, cranberry picker, creamery, crutch, cultivator, curd-breaker, curd-cutter.

Dairy implement, decorticator, digger, digging machine, dimension, disc sharpener, ditch cleaner, ditching machine, divider, double-harpoon fork, double-moldboard plow, double plow, double shovel plow, doubletree, double-tub press, drag, drag chain, drag teeth, drain cleaner, draining plow, drain-tile layer, draper stock, drill point, drill shoe, drill tube, dropper, drying house, duck's foot cultivator, dump, dumping reel, dung-fork, duster.

Ear lifter, edging shear, egg hatching apparatus, elevator, engine, ensilage, ensilage cutter, epinette, equalizer, espalier, evaporator, excavator, expanding cultivator.

Fallow-board, fanning mill, farm cart, farmer's tool box, farm mill, feed-bag, feed boiler, feed crusher, feed cutter, feed mill, feed rack, felloes, fence, fence jack, fencing machine, fence post driver, fender, fertilizer distributor, fertilizer mill, fertilizer sower, field roller, flail, flax-scratcher, flax-washer, flower pot, flue, fodder cutter, forage cutter, forage press, fork, forking spade, fountain pump, four-ply, frost cog. Fruits: basket, dryer, evaporator, frame, fruit box, furrowing plow, gatherer, ladder, pitter, press, separator.

Gage wheel, gallows, gang cultivator, gang plow, garden engine, garden loop, garden roller, garden tool, garden syringe, garlic syringe, garlic separator, gate, gearing, germination apparatus, gorse cutter, grafting chisel. Grain: binder, bruiser, cleaner, cradle, crusher, cutter, drill, fan, granary, measurer, rake, sacker, screen, separator, shovel, ventilator. Grapes, grape crusher, grape mill, grape trellis, grapery, grapple hayfork, grinder, grist mill, groomer, grub hoe, grub hook, grubber, grubbing-axe, guard finger.

Hair clipping shears, half-shovel plow, hand corn-planter, hand cultivator, hand rake, hand seeder, hand thresher, handle, harpoon hayfork, harrow, harrow cultivator, harvester, harvester cutter, harvester knife, hasp. Hay: band machine, band twister, carrier, elevator, fork, heading machine, knife, loader, maker, rake, tedder, unloader. Hedge clipper, hedging tool, hemp brake, hemp knife, hennery, hill-side plow, hitching post, hoe, hoeing machine, hog scald, hog elevator, hog hook, hog-nose trimmer, hog-scalding tub, hog trough, honey extractor, hoof cushion, hop picker, horner, 15-horse compound. Horses: biscuit, boot, collar, groomer, hurdle. Husking glove, husker.

Imperfection, incubator, insect destroyer, insect trap, irrigator.

Jointer, jumper. Knife-head, knock-down or K. D.

Land roller, lap ring, lard cutter, lard renderer, lawn mower, lawn sprinkler, layer instrument, level, leveler, lifting gate, lightest draft, lime spreader, list plow, litter cutter, loader, loose box.

Maize cutter, manger, manure drag, manure spreader, marking plow, mattock, maul, meat chopper, milk cooler, milking tube, milk pan, milk skimmer, milk strainer, moldboard, mole trap, movable fence, mower, mowing machine, muck fork, mulcher, muzzle.

Nailed canal-barrows, nib.

Oat clipper, oat crusher, oat separator, oil-cake, oil-cake grinder, oil-cake mill, olive press, one-horse plow, overshot separator, ox-shoe, ox-yoke.

Paint, paring plow, patent, pattern, peanut digger, pea huller, pea rake, peat spade, peeling iron, picker, picket axe, picket fence, picket pin, picking machine, pig trough, pitchfork, pitter, planter, plant sprinkler, plate, plow cleaner, plow fender, plow holder, plowing, pony plow, portable cider press, porter, post auger, post-hole spoon. Potatoes: assorter, bug-destroyer, coverer, digger, hook, planter scoop, powder blower. Poultry coop, poultry feeder, prairie breaker, prairie renovator, pruner, pruning saw, pruning shears, pulverizer.

Rack, rail fence, rake, rasp, reaper, reaping machine, reaping sickle, reclamation plow, reel, returner, rice drill, rice huller, rice machinery, rice thresher, ricker, riddle, ridging plow, riding cultivator, ripple, road grader, road plow, roller, rolling colter, rotary plow, rower. Roots: cutter, grinder, puller, pulper, shredder, slicer, rotary plow, round, row marker, runner, washer.

Sagebrush grubber, sap bucket, sap pile, scarificator, scraper, screen, screw press, scuffle hoe, scuffle scythe, seed drill, seeder, seeding burrow, seeding machine, seat, section, self-feeder, shape, share, share harrow, sheaf band, sheaf binder, sheller, sheep dipping apparatus, sheep-foot trimmer, sheep holder, sheep rack, sheep-shearing machine, shocker, shoe pad, shovel plow, sickle, sifter, single-shovel plow, skeleton roller-skid, skim-colter plow, skinning apparatus, slaughtering apparatus, sled harrow, sling, slip share, smoke house, smut machine, soil pulverizer, snath, snouter, snout ring, snow shovel, sod cutter, sorghum spade, sorter, spading machine, spraying machine, spring hoe, spring key, sprinkler, stable cleaner, stable fitting, stacker, stacking derrick, stack stand, stalk cutter, stall, steam plow, steam reaper, stock feeder, stone clearer, straddle plow, straw carrier, straw cutter, straw knife, stream fence, string binder, stripper, stubble turner, stump extractor, subsoiler, sugar-land plow, sugar spile, sulky cultivator, swaged sweep rake, sweet-potato digger.

Tea preparing machine, tedder, tender, tether, thatch-making machine, thistle-digger, thresher, threshing engine, tobacco cultivator, tobacco granulating machine, tobacco spinning machine, tobacco stripper, toggle press, tongueless cultivator, track-clearer, traction engine, transplanter, tread horse-power, treble tree-digger, tree-protector, tree-pruner, tree-scraper, trenching plow, triple shovel plow, trough, trowel, truck, turf-cutter, turnip cutter, turnip fingerer.

Varnish, vegetable chopper, vegetable slicer, vegetable washer, vine puller, vineyard implement.

Walking cultivator, walk scraper, weeder, weeding hoe, weed scythe, weight box, wheat riddle, wheat separator, wheel barrow, wheel colter, wheel hoe, willow peeler, windlass, windmill, windrower, wings, wine filter, wine press, winnower, winnowing machine, wire fence, wire trellis. Yoke.

Galvanic batteries, galvanometer, gasoline, gasometer, gauge, gauze, glass-blower, glazed, goggles, goniometer, graduate, graphite, gravity, grindstone, gunpowder, gutta-percha bottle.

Haemacytometer, haemaglobinometer, haematocrits, haemometers, halimeter, hammer, heat regulator, heliostats, homeopathic vial, hook, horn spoon, horseshoe, hot plate, hydrobromide, hydrocarbon, hydrochloric, hydrogen, hydrometer, hydroscope, hygrometers.

Ice calorimeter, ignition, incandescent, incubator, induction coil, infusion, ingot, inhaler, insulated, iodide of potassium, iris diaphragm, iron analysis, iron wire, ivory spoon.

Jacket, jar, jeweler's balance, jewel still, jug, julep tube.

Kerosene, kettle, knives.

Label, laboratory, lactobutyrometer, lactometer, lactoscope, ladle, lamp, lantern, lead basket, leveling disc, level, lime cylinder, liquor, litmus paper, loupes.

Magnesium lamp, magnetic compass, magnet, magnifying lens, mallet, manometer, map, meat chopper, meat press, mechanical stage, medicine, mercury, meridian, micrometer, microscope, microtomes, microtome knives, mineral analysis, mineralogical hammer, mixing bottle, moisture, monitor still, mortar, motor, mould, mounting stand, mouse jar, mouthpiece, muffles, museum jar.

Net, nickel crucible, nippers, nitrogen, nitroglycerine, nose-piece, nursing bottle.

Object disc, objective micrometer, objectives, oil analysis, ointment jar, ore crusher, overflow, oxygen, oxygen retort, ozonometer.

Pail, palladium tube, paraffin, parallel compressor, parchment paper, parting flask, pellets, pencil, percolating jar, percolator, peroxide, petroleum, phosphorous, photographic tray, photometer, photo-micrograph, piano wire, pick glass, pill box, pill machine, pinch-cock, pipettes, plate, platform scales, plating apparatus, platinum, pliers, plunge batteries, pneumatic trough, pocket transit, poker, polariscope, polarization, porcelain, porous cup, potash, pouring mould, precipitating jar, preparation cylinder, prescription scales, preservation jar, pressure bottle, prismatic, prism, proof glasses, psychrometer, pump, pulse glass, pyrometer.

Quartz batteries, quicksilver retorts.

Radiometer, reading glasses, receiver, reduction tube, reductor, refractometer, respirator, retort, riders for balances, ring burner, rock section, rubber bulb.

Saccharimeter, safety burner, saltpetre, sampling, sandpaper, scales, scissors, scoop, scorification mold, scorifier, scraper, screen, screw, section razor, seed press, separating, separatory apparatus, shade, shaking flask, sharpener, shears, shelves, show jar, sieve, silk cord, silver crucible, skittle pot, socket, sodium, solution, stage micrometer, standard candle, steel dies, sterilizer, still, stirring rod, stoneware, stopcock, stopper, storage batteries, storm glass, stove, strainer, substage arm, sugar dish, sugar pipette, sulphur, sulphuretted hydrogen generator, sulphuric acid, sulphurous, support, syphon, syringe.

Tape measure, taper wax, test-glass, test-lead, test-tube, thermometer, thermostat, thistle tube, tile, tin foil, tincture press, tips, tongs, tool chest, towel, transit, tray, triangle, tripod-attachment, trip scales, trough, tube furnace, tubing, tuning forks, twine.

Urinary analysis apparatus, urinometer, U-tube.

Vacuum, vapor, vaporimeter, vegetation, vinegar, vise, voltmeter, volumenometer.

Wall chart, washbasin, washing bottle, waste jar, watch glass, wax taper, water stills, water synthesis, weighing apparatus, weight, wick, wind gauge, wing-top, wire, wrench. Y-tubes.

Zero point attachment, zinc, zinc plates.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS—CIVIL SERVICE LETTERS —CITY, COUNTY, STATE AND FEDERAL:

The following comprehensive list of controversial terms has been especially prepared to meet Civil Service examinations.

Sixty-five per cent of the applicants taking Civil Service examinations fail, and mainly because they have not mastered the vocabularies embodied in the subject matters given at the tests.

In Federal examinations all applicants are given the stenography dictation test at the rate of eighty words per minute, and they have the option of taking additional tests at one hundred, one hundred and twenty, and one hundred and forty words per minute. The matter dictated consists of an extract of two hundred and sixty words taken from a speech delivered in the House or Senate, or from the President's message. The dictation is not technical, but contains words frequently encountered in the vocabularies of economics and sociology, and especially many terms found in the nomenclatures of politics and law. The applicant who has read much on public questions is likely to be best fitted for the examinations. After the student has familiarized himself with the shorthand outlines for the following vocabularies he will find it profitable to practice on the printed speeches to be found in the Congressional Record and on the previous messages of Presidents to Congress. In addition the political and law vocabularies given in this publication should be thoroughly mastered. Eighty per cent of the members of both Houses of Congress are politicians or lawyers. Hence, the vocabularies run largely along the lines of their professions. The proportion of lawyers in Congress is so preponderating that the representatives of other professions are bound to be comparatively few.

City, County and State examinations are very similar to those given by the United States Government.

Below will be found two specimen dictations which will indicate the nature of these tests. Specimen No. 1 has been actually used as a test by the examiners.

SPECIMEN DICTATION NO. 1.

"Our present system of transportation by rail is not keeping pace with our rapid increase of production and consumption. Most of the transportation is over rail, and we have utilized our rivers in a meager way. This is especially true of our interior waterways. Water traffic, to a large extent, is localized around the Great Lakes, and splendid as are the results, still the benefits have failed to reach the great interior sources of production. Even this limited area of water transportation, however, demonstrates advantages and shows that waterways should be established and assured as a permanent part of the traffic system. Over the region of the Central West lies a great freight producing area. Under the all-rail system of carrying freight, the western producer fails to reach the markets with a profit and the consuming world is denied access to these interior fields of production. For several years the roads have failed to move the crops in season and before long they will be able to move only a portion of the farm products to the market. Leaders in railroad transportation recently estimated that the next ten years would require 75,000 miles more of trackage construction to meet the requirements of the normal growth of the country. It is quite unlikely that the necessary increase of railroad mileage and equipment will be made. Wisdom and experience point to a comprehensive programme of interior waterway improvement. Encouragement of production is not rational if we neglect natural facilities of distribution."

SPECIMEN NO. 2.

"The most noteworthy national legislation of the year from the standpoint of the administration of justice is contained in the Trade Commission Act and the so-called Clayton Act. Together they supplement existing statutes and general law as to illegal trusts and monopolies in interstate commerce, and they deal with the application of the anti-trust act to labor associations, the issuing of injunctions in labor disputes in federal courts, and the procedure for the punishment of contempts in a certain class of cases. Both measures in the most painstaking way make clear that nothing in them is to vary the meaning of the two important sections of the Sherman Act which have been so fully considered and clearly construed by the Supreme Court in the light of, and by the rule of reason. We may, therefore, in beginning the consideration of this new legislation, rejoice that in spite of the exuberant criticism of the Supreme Court decisions in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases when announced, and the threats of legislation to dethrone reason in judicial construction as applied to trust law, we may still use in a normal way those mental processes with which nature has endowed us in attempting to find out what Congress means in these acts.

"The first part of this legislation adds new machinery for the enforcement of the anti-trust acts. Second, it appears to create new offenses in that field of the law. Thirdly, it imposes, after two years, certain restrictions upon what have been called interlocking directorates in banks and railroads, evidently with a view to prevent temptation to a suppression of competition and to monopoly. Fourth, it brings into the federal criminal jurisdiction embezzlements and other breaches of trust by directors, officers and agents of interstate carriers, and provides other restrictions to secure their fidelity."—William Howard Taft.

MARINE HARDWARE, YACHT AND LAUNCH SUPPLIES, SHIP CHANDLERY, ROPES AND FLAGS:

Anchor boat hooks, anchor fish hooks.

Barometer, barrel, base eyes, basket, batteries, bearings, becketts for blocks, beeswax, beetle, belaying pins, bilge, binnacle, binocular, block, board, boat, boatswain, bobstay, boom, bow chock, bracket, brads, bull's-eye, bunting, buoy, burr, buttons.

Cable, calking, call, camp furniture, candles, can hooks, cannon, canoe, cargo, catcher, ceiling, centerboard, chest handle, chimney, chipping, chock, closet, compressor, conical, coppering, cordage, cowbell, cringle or standing fids, crotch hook, cupboard turn, curved base-eyes, cushion.

Darts, davits, drum steers, dry batteries, duck cotton.

Eagles, engineer's side steering wheel, escutcheon, eyelet, eyes. Fair leader, fiddle block, fids, fish gaffs, fish hooks, fish-tail propeller, fishing anchor, fishing tackle, fittings, flagpole holder, flags and draperies, flange eyes, foghorn, foot stops, forelocks, forging, frame, friction, funnel, furniture.

Gaffs, gooseneck band, gouge, graphite, grapnel, gudgeon.

Halibut gaff, hammock, handcuffs, hank, harpoon, hasp hinge, hawsepipe, heavier, hood attachment, hooks and eyes, hoop, horn. Inserting dies.

Jam cleat, jap-a-lac, jaws for gaff, jib hanks, jib boom, jingle bell. Key, kit, knob.

Lantern, lavatories, launch, leader, light, lighting, link, lizard, lobster claw, loose hook block.

Mallet, Manila rope, manhole plates for deck, marine, mason's lines, mast bands, match hooks, maul, megaphone, mop, mushroom anchor. Navy cleats, neck bolt, needles, net.

Oak mast hoop, oakum, oblong base leader, odd strapped block, overhauling weight, oyster tong rivet set.

Padlock eyes, paddlers, paint, painter's block, paste, patent, pigtail hook, plunger, polish, port light, post, pricker, propeller, pulley, pump. Quadrant, quadrant steerer.

Rags, rail, raiser, reaming iron, reversible propeller, riding-bitt, rigger-screw, ringbuoy, roller, rowlock, rudder.

S-hooks, sail hoist, sail thimble, sailmaker, sailor, sash, scraper, scoop, scroll, searchlight, self-lubricating, shackle block, shackles, shank, shark hooks, sheath, sheave, sheet block, ship, side cutter, signal, sister hook, skag, skylight hinge, slick, sling, slotted, snap, snatch, socket, sounding lead, spar, shave, spike, splicer, spray, spring, square bolt, squilgees, stain oil, stanchion, standard, steerer, steering, stern, stick, sticking, stove, stub, stuffing box, swivel, swordfish.

Tackle, telescope, thimble, tiller rope, toggle iron, topmast ball, topsail, torch, transverse, traveler, trawl anchor, truck, turnbuckle, twine. Underlead guide blocks. Ventilator, varnish.

Wardrobe hooks, wheel, whistle, windlass, wrench.

Yacht, yachting shoes.

Natural gas, naphthalene, naphthene, nitrogen, normal.

Odor, offsetting, oil springs, origin, outcrops, ozokerite.

Oils, Greases and Compounds:

Animal oil, axle grease.

Belt benzine, binnacle oil, black oil.

Car box, carriage, castor, chain, coal, compounds, compressor, cooking, cordage, cottonseed, crank case, crude, cylinder.

Dressing belt, dustine, dynamo.

Felt, fish oils, flake graphite, floor, fuel.

Gas, gasoline, grease.

Harness oil, harvester, heavy red marine, hoof.

Illuminating Oils: Binnacle, coal, miner's, signal, taper.

Kerosene. Lamp oil, lard, leather, linotype, linseed, liquified, liquid metal polish, locomotive.

Machine Oils: Bolt and nut, crank case, metal polish, miner's lamp, naphtha, naphthaline, neatsfoot, neutral, non-luminous flames, nut oil, sewing machine.

Oils—Fuel, lubricating and refined.

Oil bearing, oil heater, oil level gauge, oil tank, oil yielding strata, operate, operating, operation, operator, oxygen.

Paint oil, paraffin, petrolatum, piston, polishing liquid, putty.

Refined, regulator oil, rubbing oil.

Salad oil, separator, signal, skid, soap, sperm, spindle.

Tallow block, taper oil, tobacco, transformer.

Valve oil, vegetable. Wire rope grease, wool.

Packed, padlock, pail, paint, paraffine, paralleled, passage, perspiration, petrolatum, petroleum jelly, pint, piping, pipe-line, plate, plug vent, plunging fold, polishing, pores, porosity, porous, portable tank, poured, preservative, pressure, private, process, production, productive, products, proportion, prospecting, pump, pumping plant, pumping station.

Quality, quantity, quart, quick flowing oil.

Raced, radiating fuel, ravine, raw receptacle, rear axle, recommended, reduction, refill, refined, refinery, refining, reinstall, repack, representative, reservoir, residual, residue, residuum, resist, retardation, retort, revolve, rocks, rubbing surfaces, rusts, rusty.

Saline, salt, sample, sandstone, saturation, schedule, scientifically, scrubber, sedimentary, seeps, selected, self-oiling, self-starter, semifluid, semisolid lubricant, separator oil, service stations, shaft bearings, shale, shipload, shrinkage, skid, sluggish, smoke, smudge oil, sod, solar distillate, sort, spark, specific gravity, spindle, splash, spout, spouter, spring leaves, springs, squeak, squirt can, stainer, stand, standard, stationary, steam, steamer, steering knuckles, stoking, storage system, storage tank, "straight run" gasoline, straps, stratification, stratigraphic, strike, structural, structure, substance, substitute, sulphur, sulphuretted-hydrogen, superheated, supply, surface, survey, swamp, sweat, synclines.

Tablespoonful, tank, tanker, tank steamer, temperature, tension, tensleep, terrace, territory, tested, throttle, thrust, topographic, tractor, traffic, transitional, transmission, transportation, transporting, trap, treatment, triplex power pumps, trunk line, tug, turbine, turpentine, type.

Unconformities, underground tank, undersell, uniformity, unmixed, unscrew, upkeep, user.

Value, vaporize, vapor tension, varieties, vaseline, viscosity, volatile, volatility, volcanic.

Water gases, water pressure, wax, wells, wheel, wildcatting, wooden, worm. Yellow. Zerolene.
